

ULTRASONIC ROCK ORCHESTRA

WHO

15 incredible musicians and singers present an evening of songs from the most decadent and glitter-crazed era of rock 'n' roll.

WHAT

The ULTRASONIC ROCK ORCHESTRA brings the often heard but rarely performed crown jewels of classic rock to vivid life: QUEEN's 'Bohemian Rhapsody,' THE WHO's 'Won't Get Fooled Again,' DAVID BOWIE's 'Ziggy Stardust,' THE BEATLES' 'I Am the Walrus,' LED ZEPPELIN's 'Black Dog' - and many more.

Originally formed by singer, Sal Clemente, and drummer, Alan Ware, this giant rock band has been together since 2004 and consists of 10 singers and 5 instrumentalists. 'The URO takes iconic songs and extracts the most out of them, turning in pulverizing, thunderous renditions,' says the Erie Times.

The URO is a Boston based group committed to bringing the best of classic rock to life for those who've never had a chance to hear it LIVE in 3-D. 'The level of talent on display is immense,' says the Noise, 'the URO makes use of every musician and vocalist present to capture the most complex of these classic songs.'

WHY

The Boston Globe says: 'This spectacle is more party than an opera - one big party courtesy of an insanely versatile band. The URO brings off even the most intricate of rock pieces with effortless ease, lighthearted humor, and an audacious display of vocal prowess.'

The Boston Herald says: 'The URO is looking like a local institution in the making... a grandiose, fist-in-the-air salute to all things rock.'

The Boston Metro writes of the band: 'Only a handful of bands are licensed to rock you that hard, and the Ultrasonic Rock Orchestra certainly has that license.'
